Thrills and spills drew many of our North Torrance boys and girls who are TAPS, to join in with the group taking in the Sky Forest snow trip while being chaperoned by many policemen and women.

Those hearing bells in the distance should know they are ringing out for Carol Fair of Regina St. Plans will be announced in the near future along with the name of the lucky fellow.

Stork wings will be hovering over the home of that charming couple, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Perrin, who are anxiously awaiting for their first heir so he can celebrate the Fourth of July with mom and dad.

Robert Payne, president of the North Torrance Fuchsia Society, hopes to have every tract represented at the meetings every second Tuesday of the month. Guests are always welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Thomas Kuhn, of 18312 Regina St., are the very proud parents of 8 lb., 11 oz. Claude David.

Do you have any rags or papers you would like to get rid of by the third of February? If so, please contact FR 9-5065 so that they can be picked up and out of your way.

The North Torrance Alpha Society continues its ingenious job of aiding their church fund by their popular bake sale at their old standby, the Manor Market.

Bridge parties that insure full tables are those being held by those popular North Torrance matrons who held their latest party at the 18211 Prairie Ave. home of Mrs. D. D. Kern. First prize of exquisite table mats was won by Enid Runsted.

El Nido School, on 18614 St. and Hawthorne Ave., has been newly painted. Speaking of El Nido School, Mrs. Jacqueline Boynton has returned to teaching after a three-month illness. She has taken over a new room and a new class, and is now teaching the first and second combination class.

Persons who are avid canasta, samba, bridge and pinocle fans are in for a treat at the North Torrance Civic Improvement Association Cardathon being held at McMaster Hall soon.

"ARISE AND PROPHESY AGAIN"
Seventh-Day Adventist Church
1610 ACACIA AVE. TORRANCE

Monday evening party was held by the North Torrance Canasta League at the home of Edna Runsted, of 18236 Roslin Ave. Wanda Hart emerged with first prize, while Naomi McVey, who will hostess the next gathering, carried home booby prize. Boysenberry pie and hot apple pie were the mouth-watering desserts served.

Many of El Nido's interested citizens discussed the annexation problem facing their area. Although their January meeting's main point of interest was the annexation situation, they took time out for the Redondo Beach Little League manager to present his program and was granted permission by the group to hold his games for the next year at the park.

Proudest look in the community is being worn by Mrs. A. L. MacKenzie, of 4332 W. 179th St., who is wearing the Boy Scout second class mothers pin brought home to her by son Kenny.

Cramming for examination coming up very soon is Mrs. E. W. Baile, of 4222 W. 179th St., who is grateful for the week's vacation coming up. Those home can provide one easy lesson on "How to go to college, and become a teacher, with family ties being strengthened by family unit!"

A bout with the mumps in this day and age and lovely weather is not an easy matter, and Larry and Sherry Reed, of 4328 W. 179th St. are in the recuperative stages.

That sharing, understanding and cooperation still prevails in our community was evidenced Tuesday night at the library dedication services honoring Donald Robison, past principal of the Evelyn Carr and North Torrance elementary schools, whose passing away saddened us all.

Get-well wishes are extended to Mrs. Irvine, of 4239 W. 178th Pl., who aside from battling with the flu bug, is refereeing a bout of the mumps between her 12-year-old daughter, Joann, and 16-year-old Doug.

Mrs. Paul Herring, 18312 Roslin Ave., has been on a cloud since her husband's anniversary gift of an electric roaster arrived. All this and an evening of nightclubbing still has this gay gal in a joyful cloud.

Our sympathies go to Lorene Johnson, of 4304 W. 178th St., who can convince you at a moment's notice that an ulcerated tooth is no laughing matter.

Jean Ahrendt, of 4235 W. 179th St., is convinced that all neck treatments are not for beauty purposes only, after an accident.

Billy Wright became a teenager this month, and 11-year-old Wayne Wright, who dances a pretty fair mambo, also celebrated his birthday.

"The Vanishing Prairie" provided Diana, David and Leo White, along with mom and pop, several moments of exciting viewing. This 4308 W. 178th Pl. White family is one of the many that hold a tradition of cementing family ties with family recreation.

Mrs. A. Kupka, of 4247 W. 178th Pl., has been playing nursemaid to a stiff neck. Son Jerry, who had an ulcerated tooth, is feeling rather rocky too.

The many friends of the Kahle Meyers will want to drop Jeanne a get-well card as her supposedly short sojourn at the Hawthorne Community Hospital will extend into a longer stay. Mrs. Meyers went into the hospital immediately after the return of daughter Charlotte Ann Meyers, who is recuperating from an appendectomy.

Kaylene, Diane and Teddy Slatten, of 18239 Roslin Ave., have conquered the flu germ at long last, declared mother Slatten, who has really had her hands full with three sick youngsters.

Master Jerry Blake, of 16825 Thornburgh Ave., has been unable to stay away from the flu bug this season.

Carol Blix, Oregon 8-8996, is interested in persons who would like to take part in the Heart Fund drive, including block workers as well as some

Little League Diamond Awaits Decision on Army Program Site

By SONNIE TOMCHAK
FR 5-6662

The Little League's proposal to lease a site at the Torrance Airport for a baseball diamond has been postponed by the City Council. Since the government has designated part of the airport as a proving ground for the Nike guided missile all other proposals are being held up for 30 days until it can be ascertained where the government intends to put its 45-acre site. The Little League committee reports that it still expects the plans for the ball diamond to go through as planned, but it must await council approval.

Employment managers from the Douglas Aircraft Co. met with Harbor Junior College administrators last week to discuss the employment opportunities in aircraft and other metal industries for persons trained in the general field of industrial tool design. It was announced by Raymond J. Casey, director of the college. Present at the meeting were: Lynn Morris, employment manager of the Torrance Douglas plant; Paul White, employment manager of the El Segundo plant; and Laurel B. Baker, chairman of the construction technology division, and William N. Kenney Jr., dean of curriculum and instruction from the college.

During the meeting, the group agreed that the graduates of the present construction technology curriculum are qualified applicants for beginning position in tool design. It was decided, however, that a new curriculum in tool design geared to train students for tool design positions should be established according to recommendations which would be made by an advisory committee of lay experts from the various industries which employ tool designers.

Individual courses currently being offered in the construction technology division at Harbor Junior College which the Douglas representatives believe contribute to good basic training for persons seeking employment in tool design positions included blueprint reading, general engineering drafting, descriptive geometry, tool design, industrial drawing, strength of materials, architectural problems, and all mathematical courses (plane geometry, college algebra, college trigonometry, general college mathematics and slide rule).

Judge Jails Peeping Tom

Serving five days in the county jail on a vagrancy charge is Lauro A. Castro, 18, of 22885 Ocean Ave., after he pleaded guilty in South Bay Municipal Court this week.

Police said Castro was peeping in the windows of a house at 22808 Kathryn Ave., when he was caught by Charles Pike, owner of the place. Pike held the suspect at gun point until officers arrived.

Anyone interested in becoming a registered voter can do so by calling FR 2-2288 or by going to 18328 Roslin Ave. any Friday evening between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. For further information call the above number.

The 182nd St. home of Mrs. Irving Winther was the mecca of happiness in our community last Friday afternoon when she hosted neighbors and friends with a small but unique party.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cambridge, of 18237 Roslin Ave., who vacationed in Sacramento, had the good fortune to not only select an exciting vacation spot, but the location of their next home.

holidays. Mrs. Charter has spent several winters in the Southland and her children are hopeful that she will plan to make it her permanent home this time.

The Charters had a pleasant surprise Jan. 23, when Mr. and Mrs. Duane Mowry surprised their friends after a three-year absence. Mowry is the branch manager of the Bank of America located in Tokyo, Japan. After three years outside the country the Mowrys were entitled to a trip home and decided to make a trip around the world and crossed Asia, Europe and the Atlantic to arrive in this country. The world tour took three months.

Three Ellinwood couples enjoyed an evening of square dancing last Friday evening when they traveled to a grammar school in Manhattan Beach where lessons are given in this type of dancing. The Carl Johnsons, of 4703 Green Meadows Ave., the David Bruhakers of 4714 Green Meadows

Ave. and the Bill Davises of 4726 Green Meadows Ave. enjoyed their evening of learning to square dance so much that they intend to go every week and become proficient at it.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Willman have sold their home at 4608 Green Meadows Ave. and will be moving the end of February. Willman works for the MGM Studios in Culver City and the Willmans have purchased a lot there. They intend to rent an apartment until they complete their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mook and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rice were among those attending the dance at the Hollywood Riviera Club on Jan. 21. The dance was sponsored by St. James Church.

A reminder: This is the night when the mothers march to collect funds for the Polio Drive from houses with porch lights left on.
